DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Species III, claims 1, 6, 7, 12-16, 27-33 in the reply filed on 5/9/07 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 6, 7, 27-30, 32, 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lal et al (US 6638249). Lal discloses an ultrasonically actuated needle pump system comprising a housing having a fluid reservoir 80, a means for delivering fluid out of the fluid reservoir, a means for retaining the delivered fluid proximal the ambient environment using a capillary tube 57 and an outer tube 54, and means for imparting motion 64 to the retaining means using ultrasonic vibrations (Col. 4, lines 38-55, Col. 5, lines 10-20). The actuator may be a piezoelectric motor (Col. 3, lines 64-65).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 12-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lal in view of McGlothlin et al (US 5993700). Claim 12 differs from Lal in calling for the means for retaining fluid to be porous. McGlothlin teaches an infusion device having a porous wick that control the diffusive transport of the liquid (Col. 6, lines 25-28). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify the device of Lal to include a porous fluid retaining member to control the diffusive transport of the fluid.

6. Claim 31 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lal in view of Schwartz et al (US 5092844). Claim 312 differs from Lal in calling for the motor to impart rotational motion to the fluid retainer. Schwartz teaches a fluid delivery mechanism that may include a motor for either reciprocal motion, as disclosed by Lal, or rotational motion to achieve the desired fluid flow (Col. 8, lines 20-28). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify the device of Lal to include a motor that imparts rotational motion because Schwartz teaches that reciprocal motion and rotational motion are known equivalents for achieving and controlling fluid flow.
